The Calm Before the Storm

TWO DALY CITY youngsters get a traffic-free view of the new Junipero Serra Freeway, scheduled to open in Daly City late next month. It's a view that won't be shared, however, by motorists once the highway has opened. The youngsters are Steven Guer-

FOR D.C. GIRL

Driving Lesson Ends in Death

A driving lesson ended in death on a quiet Daly City lawn last Tuesday afternoon. It was the city's first traffic fatality of 1966.

Officers said Vicky Robbins, 91 Fleetwood Drive, and Deborah Kazas, 55 Oakmont Drive, both eight years old, were walking in front of 133 Northgate Avenue about 4:25 p.m. when a car jumped the curb and struck them. Vicky was pinned between the car and a palm tree on the lawn, police said. She was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Deborah, who suffered only minor hip and leg injuries, was treated by her family physician. Daly City police said the driver of the car was Madelin Forcina, 15, of 80 Lakemont Drive. According to officers, she lost control of the auto while rounding a slow bend in the street during a driving lesson supervised by her mother, Mrs. Grace Forcina, 46.

Sgt. Thomas Culley said the auto had been traveling at only about 10 to 15 miles an hour at the time of the crash.

Investigators said the driver did not possess a learner's permit. They said the case has been referred to the district attorney's office.

The victim was a third grade student at Olympia School in Daly City. She was a member of the Bluebirds and Our Lady of Mercy Church.

In addition to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robbins, she is survived by two sisters, Kernala, 15, and Lynn, 12, and two brothers, John, 17 months, and Douglas, 10.

The father is a San Francisco fireman.

Services were held Friday at Carey & English Funeral Home in San Francisco. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

S.S.F. Pair Die in Fuji Plane Crash

A South San Francisco couple died in the crash of a BOAC jet airliner in Japan last week. They were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. (Fred) Freestone, of 206 Arroyo Drive.

The Freestones, in their 40s, leave two children under 10, now being cared for by Mrs. Freestone's mother.

Freestone, a native of England, had lived in South San Francisco about six years. He moved to the west from New Jersey in 1949. He was manager and part owner of Thermo-King Sales and Service Company of San Francisco, a dealer in truck refrigerators and auto air-conditioners.

Robert Matson, shop foreman for the firm, said that Freestone (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

S.S.F. Council Approves S.P. Improvement

South San Francisco, which has been winning awards for civic cleanliness, may soon be winning them for safety as well.

A step in that direction was taken by the City Council last night, with approval of a resolution authorizing the Southern Pacific Railroad to proceed with installation of crossing improvements at East Grand Avenue and two crossings on Forbes Boulevard.

According to Director of Public Works Louis Goss, crossing gates will be erected at Grand Avenue. Flashing signals are to be installed on Forbes Boulevard.

The work, said Goss, will be done by the railroad and paid for by members of the Cabot, Cabot and Offbes Industrial Park No. 1 Assessment District.

Other council action included a hearing on improvement of Conmur Street and Dianne Court. Over the protests of one landowner the council passed resolutions establishing the assessment district and ordered the work begun.

Councilmen accepted a recommendation by Goss that the contract be given to Fisk, Firenze and McLean, Inc., whose low bid was $25,963.

Councilman Andrew Rocca offered a motion that the city manager and fire chief be asked to meet to determine just when (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

INTERCHANGE FINISHED

D.C. Freeway To Open in Late April

Traffic is expected to begin moving over the new Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City late next month.

The freeway section, which cost $9,978,000 to build extends from the Southern Freeway at Orizaba Avenue in San Francisco, now under construction, to a point a half mile south of Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City.

Ultimately, motorists will be able to follow the Junipero Serra Freeway from San Francisco, south through the middle of San Mateo County to San Jose. Ground was broken in September for the east-southwest link, which will extend from Daly City to Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco.

Everett Raymond, resident engineer for the State Division of Highways, said traffic from both Junipero Serra Boulevard and Alemany Boulevard would feed into the new freeway when the section is opened.

Pavement for the freeway has been laid and contractors are now working on shoulder construction, connecting ramps, signs and drainage facilities, he said.

Raymond estimated that construction on the segment had passed the 85 per cent mark. It had been anticipated that the freeway would open in the spring of this year.

The engineer estimated that the link between the southern end of the Southern Freeway and the Junipero Serra Freeway would open in mid-June.

A complex, three-level interchange at Knowles Avenue has been completed and is now being partially used.

The interchange will bring together traffic on the Junipero Serra and Southern Freeways, Knowles Avenue, and Junipero Serra and Alemany Boulevards.

The Post-Times has received a new shipment of U.S. and California flag kits to fill orders from readers.

The kits, offered as a public service, include a three-by-five-foot U.S. flag and a 12-by-18-inch California flag—both for $3.25.

For an additional 50 cents, the flags may be ordered by mail. The North County office of The Post-Times is at 30 Park Plaza Drive in the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City.

OCEANA MOVE UNDER FIRE

600 Angry Parents Demand Answers On Bussing in JUHSD

By BERENICE PALMER

The first public hearing Monday night on the recommendations of the Jefferson Union High School District Boundary Study Committee brought a standing room only audience to the Little Theater of Westmoor High School.

Over 600 people, most of them disgruntled parents, this time turned their fire on Oceana High School, and the bussing of their children from Westmoor to the Pacifica High School.

Jefferson High School had been the object of criticism by parents at a stormy board meeting on February 7 at Oceana. Since that time, Jefferson Union High School District Superintendent Edward D. Morgan advised rejection of the most controversial part of the Boundary Study Committee Report. This would have called for transporting some 300 students from Westmoor to Jefferson and some 300 students from Jefferson to Westmoor to help eliminate possible defacto segregation at Jefferson.

Monday night, however, the parents were still obviously unhappy. Although Superintendent Morgan answered three main objections received in an unsigned letter last week, one after another parent came up to protest his explanations.

Why bus children to Oceana High School when they live close to Westmoor, and how does Oceana compare academically to Jefferson High were the two main questions asked by the audience.

Although Morgan explained that the boundaries were established so that Serramonte would take most of the children busing to Oceana from Westmoor, the parents were not satisfied with this explanation.

Lou Pappin presented a resolution signed by 1,147 residents which objected to the Boundary Study Committee report because it did not retain neighborhood boundaries.

Philip Camello stated: "Wouldn't it be more feasible to bus the students to Oceana who are already being bused to Westmoor rather than my son who has only four blocks to walk?"

Fay Kean and others in the audience questioned the cost of bussing. Morgan stated that it would be minimal as it is shared with the Elementary District, $9 or $10 a day per bus for the four extra which would accommodate the 210 students (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Five North County residents had either taken out nomination papers or filed them as of yesterday for election to county offices.

The filing period closes March 25.

Of the five, only Supervisor Jean Fassler of Pacifica had filed her papers. She is seeking election to a two-year term on the board of supervisors.

The others who had taken out papers include Thomas F. Noonan of Daly City for assessor (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Coastside Councilmen Study Plan

Pacifica councilmen will study tonight the report of Stone and Youngberg, financing consultants, who have concluded an analysis of the city's three ballot proposals for an April 12 election.

Also at tonight's meeting will be two public hearings: One, continued, on a uniform building code, and the other a periodic review to consider revisions to the city's General Plan.

An ordinance requiring dedication of land by developers or payment of fees instead for public parks will be up for adoption.

Jail Term Received By Adam's Dad

Mrs. Margaret Erika Espinoza was ordered today to serve another six months in county jail for abandoning one of her children in a South San Francisco park last November 8.

Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley, who called it a "cruel and inhuman act," told the young mother:

"You had better start thinking about yourself and your life. And there's no better place to do that than in county jail."

Judge Hartley sentenced Mrs. Espinoza to five years' probation and a year in jail, but suspended six months of the jail term. He also ordered her to take whatever psychiatric treatment is ordered by the probation department.

In addition, the judge ordered that the abandoned child, Adam, 6, will remain in the custody of the county juvenile court until further notice.

When Mrs. Espinoza heard the sentence she whispered in the ear of her lawyer, Robert Miller, who then asked that she be allowed to serve the jail sentence on weekends so that she could be with her other three children. The request was denied.

It appeared that tears were welling in her eyes but she covered her head with her sweater (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

from Westmoor. "The buses start at Jefferson empty, anyway," he said, "and have to go down to Pacifica."
Several parents expressed their concern about the quality of education at Oceana. Although Principal Ernest Ribera, and vice mayor of Pacifica, Grace McCarthy, defended the school's academic program, a more thorough study and comparison were asked for by the audience. Some of the critiat that point in an attempt to avoid a newspaper photograph.

Matrons reported that she cried "a little" when she got back to her cell but "seemed to take it fairly well."
Mrs. Espinoza pleaded guilty to a charge that she left Adam in the park just before the family left for her native Austria in hopes of finding a better life.
In her written statement to the probation office, Mrs. Espinoza said she had had a lot of trouble with Adam, and, because he looked and acted differently than the other children, she even wondered whether he was her child. It had been planned, she related, to leave the boy with her mother-in-law but she could not because of ill health.

"I realized that we had both quit our jobs," Mrs. Espinoza said, "and sold our furniture and dishes. We had only the clothes that were packed. At that time I panicked."

"Six months to feed, no job, no furniture. I did the thing that comes to mind only in panic. I decided to abandon the boy."
"My husband did not have the heart to do this. I can't," he said. "My conscience would bother me forever. I do not have what it takes."

Mrs. Espinoza said she picked the park to leave the boy because she felt certain that he would not be harmed there and that he would be found soon.

"I felt as though I was possessed by somebody else's mind," she said.
After the boy had been abandoned, Mrs. Espinoza related, she and her husband did not talk for many hours and tried to avoid each other, "being ashamed of what we did."

Before sentence was imposed, attorney Miller told the court that the 27-year-old Mrs. Espinoza realizes now that she needs psychiatric help. He pointed out that she has been in jail for a month and argued that further jail time would serve no purpose. Miller noted that his client returned voluntarily from Vienna. Judge Hartley pointed out that Mrs. Espinoza and the rest of her family returned because they found conditions not to their liking in Austria.

"If they liked it," he commented, "they would probably still be there."

Deputy District Attorney Allison M. Rouse called it "one of the cruelest cases to come to my attention in many years."

cisms were: "Not as many electives," "No enrichment courses, as such," "Fewer languages," Leah Fox worried that incoming freshmen and sophomores from Westmoor would not be able to continue their enrichment courses. Questions were also asked about the number of students going to colleges from Oceana compared to Westmoor.

One man stated, "I'm not worried about allegiance or the physical building, I'm concerned about the comparative education between the two schools. Give us statistics."

Richard Truck asked: "Does Pacifica have a police department, a mayor? I object to my children going to school in another city, a different political subdivision."

The audience had few positive suggestions about what to do to alleviate the overcrowding (2,700 by 1970) at Westmoor. "Why don't you build more schools?" "put a roof on the patio," "use portable classrooms," were some of the comments.

Support for the Committee Report was given by several people. Betsy Blom stated: "A decision has been made, we should abide by it to avoid de facto segregation and overcrowding." She recommended the report and said she hoped for its adoption. "We don't want any speeches," someone called from the audience.

Rev. Howard Bryant from the Second Baptist Church in Daly City, a member of the committee, described the many hours spent studying the problem. He recommended acceptance of the report in its entirety.

Mrs. Maddy Bradstreet pointed out the real problem of de facto segregation in the schools when she stated: "The Negroes could not buy homes in Westlake, so now we are in Daly City." She also recommended approval for the committee report.

Allen Rigler, 312 San Bruno Avenue, Brisbane, another committee member described Jefferson High as the "most nearly balanced racially" but said he felt that the moving was "educationally unsound."

Two students were heard from. One, Glen Sievert, worried about missing the bus to Oceana and having to walk 10 miles instead of two. "We're the guys who are being shuffled around, no one bothered to ask us."

Another boy, a sophomore at Westmoor, said he would be glad to go to a smaller school like Oceana. "I am nothing but a number here," he said. "I am in all enriched classes but I'm learning nothing. The teacher has 30 pupils, perhaps if he had 10 he could do something with them. You just learn facts and regurgitate them... there are no challenges. I think you get a better education in a small school."

officers he saw the car's headlights, blew his whistle and "hit all the emergency stops." No one aboard the train was injured.

The impact demolished Miss Richardson's auto. She was thrown from the wreckage.

Half of the car was dragged more than a block before the train halted. Trains were held up for more than an hour as workers cleared the debris.

Police said Miss Richardson was on her way home after eating dinner with friends.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson. Also surviving are a sister, Denyse; two brothers, Jerry and William Jr., and a grandmother, Mrs. Mary Richardson of Pennsylvania.

Funeral services were held at the Chapel by the Sea Mortuary in Pacifica. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Pacifica Hospital Is Approved

The Pacifica Planning Commission approved conditionally a use permit for a convalescent hospital in the Sharp Park District at last night's meeting.

Reduction of beds from 240 to 200 was advised by the planning commission in order to meet parking space requirements.

The Linda Mar Convalescent Hospital was used as a guideline.

The property will be located on a hillside across from the Church of the Good Shepherd and adjacent to the Chapel by the Sea Mortuary on the east side of the highway.

Abutting property on the hillside is vacant.

Applicant Gene E. Lynn said the facilities will be "pleasing to the eye and semi-residential in character." Primarily for older patients, the hospital, facilities would be half nursing and half ambulatory, he said.

The engineering department advised that a full-width street be developed with other property owners rather than a piecemeal approach. Architectural and landscaping approval will still be necessary.

on School District Organization, said that the committee has been unable to find any legal means of halting the June election.

The committee, at its last meeting, had refused to call the election.

County Schools Supt. James Tormey, acting under a ruling issued by the district attorney's office, then called the election himself.

Beaumont subsequently announced that he would do anything to stop Tormey and the election.

The committee adjourned its last meeting without preparing pro and con ballot arguments on unification—a process, according to the district attorney's office, it is required to do.

Tormey said last week that unless the committee acts on this requirement by the middle of this month, he will prepare the ballot arguments himself.

Water Pipe Price Fixing Investigated

South San Francisco city councilmen voted Monday night to join several other California municipalities — among them San Francisco — in a suit to recover damages for alleged water pipe price fixing.

"It is possible that we might recover as much as $50,000 in damages," said Louis Goss, director of public works.

Goss explained that manufacturers of pipe used by the city are being sued by the state, which charges that bids were rigged in sales between 1946 and 1963.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the state attorney general to act in behalf of South San Francisco in the case.

Goss added that during the 17-year period the city purchased some $100,000 worth of water pipe. The League of California Cities, he said, has estimated that the prices were an average of 15 to 35 per cent too high.

Residents Win The Battle, Lose the War

Residents of Village Way in South San Francisco, who turned out in force last month to protest a proposed permit for a used car lot in their neighborhood, won that battle but not the war.

The planning commission agreed with the residents, who said use of the lot behind a house at Linden Avenue and Village Way would present a traffic and safety hazard, and in the absence of the applicants, recommended denial of the application.

But the city council Monday night set the stage for round two, when it referred the request back to the planning commission for further consideration.

The action was taken at the request of Attorney Antonio J. Gaudio, who promised to appear at the meeting with the applicants, David and Alvin Arata, to present further arguments.

Residents of Village Way, a residentially zoned island completely surrounded by commercial and industrial districts, are also expected at the next public hearing, set for April 4.

Some years ago, Councilman Wilson led a one-man crusade for a hospital in North San Mateo County. Although he was unsuccessful, his voice was heard! A portion of the accompanying letter

Plans for Post Office Unit In Bayshore Are Stymied

The Daly City Post Office has abandoned—for now—a proposal to open a postal service facility in the Bayshore area.

Last year, the Post Office advertised for bids to operate a facility but only two bids were received and both were termed "excessive," according to Daly City Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy.

New bids were then advertised but no response was received, Murphy said.

He added that plans for operating a facility have been returned to district post office headquarters.

"We'd still like to open a facility over there," Murphy said. "But we have to interest some party."

The Post Office had sought a merchant who would provide postal services and whose store would serve as a delivery station for mail for which notices to call had been left with intended recipients.

By LE PACINI

NOW THAT the Met and a toothpaste company have introduced the anti-hero to American sports, it has suddenly become possible for mediocre athletes with business acumen to succeed without really trying.

Take a baseball pitcher, for instance, who had an 11-11 record with a 3.78 ERA for a fifth place club last year. To an owner, this guy is neutral enough to be pitching for the Swiss National Baseball Team; and owners don't pay off on hurlers who have signed separate peace treaties with the opposition any more than you would pay off for a Playboy without middle pages.

In fact, owners of mediocre teams don't even pay off on wins, if the ERA is high, or on low ERA's if win totals are low. They WILL pay off on both high wins and low ERA's, but on a fifth place team, that combination happens as often as Chou En-lai cheers for the U.S.

A fence-straddling owner content with eking out a living, therefore, can be satisfied with just fair pitchers whom he quite often feels happily justified in not only refusing raises but in cutting them at an attrition rate which would make the Chinese water-torture seem like a beach party.

BUT THE mediocre pitcher—and all athletes of his persuasion—is now on the brink of a new dimension in winter contract negotiations because of the Mets' untiring fight to firmly establish that guys with 10-20 records CAN get raises (the logic being that a guy pitching often enough to lose that many must have something on the ball), on hazard pay alone.

Couple this with the now medically proven fact that all people with poor co-ordination and extra-wide posteriors have sparkling, healthy teeth and the leftovers are great athletes, and soon smart but mediocre pitchers will be telling their bosses: "Not only did I lose a bundle, but I have 28 per cent more cavities than the other side."

SOME COASTSIDE THINGS: Until an injury, Terra Nova's Jack Bresnahan was second leading scorer on the San Francisco State frosh squad, averaging nearly 12 points a game. State basketball, incidentally, seems to have adopted a whole new concept under coach Frank Verducci.

We remember when the Gators had to score over 100 points for the first time in their history to beat Chico for the championship nearly a decade ago. Now they score 100 points weekly and sometimes lose doing it.

Of course "Goose" Adams may have something to do with it. The concept, that is, not the losing. Although State basketballers are bigger than ever, it's still the "little" man—Adams, at six feet—who's making them go. "Goose," averaging 23 a game, is cracking every State scoring record on the books.

The local basketball upset of the year didn't occur in NPL play and probably won't get a smudge of ink except in this corner.

It happened last week when Terra Nova's freshmen beat the seniors for the Terra Nova Intramural Basketball Championship. It's a first-ever at TN and the first time we've ever heard of freshmen at any school winning an intramural sports title.

It's usually not because of a lack of talent but only because the little scrubs allow themselves to be intimidated. But not so last week.

Hero of the piece was tiny Gary Hernandez who calmly broke a tie by dumping two free throws with seven seconds remaining.

Gary's the son of Pacifica fireman Johnny Hernandez, who, as a Yankee farmhand once almost won the American Association batting title, had a promising career cut short because of eye trouble.

THINKING OUT LOUD: Don't know if you've ever stopped to think about it but pro basketball is the toughest team sport in the world to break into.

If 12 NBA rookies a year make rosters, it's considered a good year for rookies. Why? Figure it out for yourself. Only five men a side.

It's about that time of the year—baseball spring training—when the baseball haters bring up the old saw about baseball no longer being the sports spectator's national pastime.

Without wishing to begin refuting distorted and-or even false attendance figures conjured up by basketball and pro football, we make this statement:

No "seasonal" sport can ever hope to compete with baseball for the practical reason that—especially in the west—it is a year-round sport. It's played every day, professionally—not just once or twice a week—for a good part of the year. And during the winter there are numerous semi-pro winter leagues. Ever hear of organized spring or summer football competition?

If you want another answer, consider this one: professional football never really "made it" until television took an interest in it. Baseball was "making it" 30 years before anybody even thought of television.

ONE FINAL RETORT: Baseball has lived and will continue to live big for the very reason that its detractors offer as its biggest drawback—its relative slowness.

Faster games, such as basketball and football, happen too fast, allowing little time for the dramatic climax to build itself up in the spectator's imagination.

In football, for instance, you can't know whether Johnny Unitas will have a chance to throw that long one to Lenny Moore in the closing seconds because there's no way of telling whether Baltimore will even have the ball five minutes from then.

But in baseball, a fan knows in the seventh inning that if his team can hold the Dodgers to that one run lead for just two more innings, that Willie Mays will get a crack at tying it off. Drysdale in the ninth and the fan can live in happy contemplation of that moment for two more innings, sipping a beer and eyeing a pretty usherette, knowing Willie can't fumble his way out of the delicious situation, and is that living or isn't it?

But we do offer baseball haters this one note of satisfaction. We've seldom talked to a coach who didn't agree that the world's worst conditioned athlete is a baseball player.

AND WHAT'S the one most vital factor that can ruin a potentially great pole vaulter? Many coaches agree that, more than anything physical, it's the worry over what might happen should one of the "glass" poles shatter (which happens fairly regularly) when the jumper is in midair and almost helpless.

And last thought—and probably least—what ever happened to the crew-cut athlete?

Warriors To Face Rugged PBT Lineup

The South San Francisco High School Warriors, winners of the North Peninsula League basketball title, face strong San Carlos at 7 tomorrow night in the opening round of the Peninsula Basketball Tournament at Stanford University.

South San Francisco, 18-2 against high school competition this year, is one of eight champions to participate in the annual tourney.

San Carlos, winner of the South Peninsula Athletic League and 21-3 over-all, is one of four seeded teams in the affair. Blackford, Lincoln of San Jose, and St. Mary's of Berkeley are the others.

Other first-round pairings include: Lincoln vs. Live Oak at 4 p.m.; Hillsdale vs. Blackford at 5:30 p.m., and St. Mary's vs. Buchser at 8:30 p.m.

Bishop O'Dowd, the defending champ, lost the Catholic Athletic League crown last weekend to the Panthers in San Francisco in the CAL's annual play-offs.

The Warriors will be facing one of the standout teams in Northern California, in San Carlos, rated seventh in the state by a Southern California rating firm as late as last week.

Jerry Drever's Dons, who ran up an 8-0 non-league record including a close victory over Blackford in a Christmas tournament, are considered to be one of the favorites for the PBT crown.

In Bob Emery, Ken Buickeroos, Doug Covey, Ken and Don Brandenburg and John Rastich, San Carlos has a balanced unit that can press and run with the best in the area.

South San Francisco will counter with its all-league front line of Joe Smith, Jim Henry and Greg Jones. Henry, NPL Player of the Year, and Jones both broke the league scoring record this year and averaged over 19 points per game over the 20-game season.

John Moro and Larry Alsterlind will man the guard slots for Bill Purcell's champions.

Alex Smith, Kevin Pickett and Mike Martinelli will lend valuable hands in relief roles. Tournament favorite this year is Lincoln which has compiled a fancy 24-0 mark on the season.

The San Jose five took the Camella Tournament title last weekend without working up much of a sweat and ranks as the only undefeated five in the north state.

Individuals counted on for exciting action in the Stanford tourney include: Hillsdale's Mark Fenske, Blackford's Dennis Awtrey, Lincoln's Bud Ogden, Live Oak's Paul Scheidegger, San Carlos' Emery and St. Mary's Bob Scotlan.

Unearned Runs Beat Jefferson

St. Ignace High School scored two unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to come from behind and whip Jefferson High School, 2-1, in a baseball game in San Francisco last week.

A single and two errors accounted for the Wildcat's two runs.

Rec League Basketball

FIFTH GRADE-SHORT DIVISION
League play terminated Saturday in Short Division basketball as four teams squared off in tournament play to decide the championship. In the first game, the OLP Bluejays squeaked by the OLP Sparrows 18-15. Wayne Bascom led the Bluejays attack with five points while Ken Martin hit seven to lead the losers.

In the second game, the BVA "2" Barrel Carbs took a 25-23 decision from the OLM Dons. Mark Haymaker and Scott Marlar provided most of the scoring punch for the BVA team as each collected 12 points. Simpson of the Dons also hit double figures as he scored ten points.

In championship action, the OLP Bluejays squeaked by the BVA "2" Barrel Carbs 24-23. Dave Gail scored nine points for the Bluejays to lead his team to the title but high point honors for the game went to Mark Haymaker who hit for ten.

SIXTH GRADE-LONG DIVISION
Long Division basketball also ended their league schedule Saturday with a four team championship tournament. In semi-final action the PAL Colts squared off with the OLP Orioles while the BVA "4" Barrel Carbs took on the OLM Broncos.

The Orioles defeated the Colt team by a score of 32-16 behind the sharp-shooting of Paul McCoy who scored ten points. Gavin Long hit nine for the losers.

The BVA "4" Barrel Carbs also found the range in their semi-final game as they whipped the OLM Broncos 49-19. Eugene Gheiarducci was high point man for BVA with 20 points as Campbell of the Broncos led his team with seven.

In championship play the OLP Orioles came out on top as they took a thriller from BVA, 26-25. Peter J. Martin led the Orioles attack with 11 points while Eugene Gheiarducci scored ten for the Carbs.

NORTH COUNTY SPORT SCENE

Jones Is Named To North Team

South San Francisco's Greg Jones, the most sought-after high school football player in San Mateo County, was named last week to the North team for the annual Shrine Football Game.

Jones was the only county griddler named to the 25-man Northern California squad that will battle the top prep stars of the South on Thursday, July 28 in Los Angeles Coliseum.

He is the first San Mateo County player named to the team since Chuck Hunt of Carmel, who made the squad in 1962.

Jones' selection to the team was almost a foregone conclusion to those fans who have followed the Warriors' halfback during his career at South S.F. He rushed for more than 2,800 yards and scored 50 touchdowns in three seasons of varsity competition, leading South S.F. to an unbeaten season and the North Peninsula League championship this past year.

Along with his selection to the Shrine Game, Jones this season won prep All-America honors, was named All-County Player of the Year and was selected as won prep All-America honors, Year.

An A-minus student, Jones has not yet decided upon a college. He is currently a first-string basketball player, and will lead his team into the Peninsula Basketball Tournament at Stanford this week.

Bellarmine placed two grid-ders, halfback Phil Burton, and guard John Albanese, on the North squad.

El Camino Golf Club Dedication

The Bay Area's only lighted golf course, the El Camino Golf Club, has been dedicated.

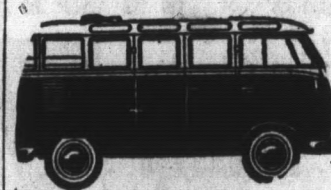

The three par course occupies about eight acres of non-water-shed San Francisco Water Department lands and is located at 999 Mission Road, South San Francisco.

A pee-wee course, driving range and putting and chipping areas are also on the grounds. The public course will be open during the day and at night.

Another unique feature of the course is a putting green atop its restaurant-pro-shop building. South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucci and Thomas P. White, vice president of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, were scheduled to drive the first balls from the clubhouse roof to officially open the golf course.

Westlake Bowl

THIS IS picture week at Westlake as team bowlers are being photographed each evening. As a token of appreciation, many teams are presenting pictures to the team sponsors.

Twenty teams from Westlake have qualified for the sectional rollofs in the recently concluded Northern California Men's Team Handicap tournament. The sectional rollofs will be held at San Carlos Bowl on the weekends of April 16-17 and 23-24. Leading the Westlake qualifiers were the members of Bruce's Bombers team with a total of 3155 followed by John Rossi Flowers with 3133. Low qualifying score was 2954 posted by the Westlake Cleaners team. Captains will be notified officially as soon as averages have been verified.

League bowlers are taking advantage of the free "straighten out your bowling" clinic each Saturday morning at 11:30 at Westlake. For a one-hour period, free instruction is provided to league bowlers to help them correct any faults they may have acquired that are preventing them from scoring higher.

THE HANDICAP LEAGUES seem to be providing a great many of the higher scores of late. In the 99's Mixed Fives League, Herb Claus rolled games of 221-198-211 for a great 630 series, while in the same league, Phyllis Shirley led the ladies with a big 214 game and 571 series. Meanwhile in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives, Diane Finn topped the ladies with 198-540 while Joe Brown topped the pins in fine style with a 607 series on games of 224-214 and 169.

OCEANA, TN ARE OPPOSITES

Pacifica Nines Contrast

(This is the first in a series on North Peninsula League baseball teams and their prospects for the 1966 season.)

By JOHN HORGAN
HIGH SCHOOL baseball in Pacific will be marked by obvious contrasts in 1966.

The two schools in the Coastside city, Terra Nova and Oceana, each figure to have ingredients that the other does not.

On the one hand, at first glance, the Tigers seem to have superior experience at most positions and good hitting. Oceana, on the contrary, has neither of these assets but does possess sound pitching, a commodity that its neighbor lacks.

Still, neither Al Figone of Terra Nova nor Frank Lawler of Oceana are touting their charges as "world-beaters."

Figone is especially cautious about his club's chances in the North Peninsula League race. "We have lost 19 straight NPL games over the past two years," lamented big Al last week. "Last year I cleaned out all the seniors and built for this year. Even though we did not lose one first string player to graduation we will still be in tough this season."

Prime reason for Figone's concern is his lack of pitching talent.

He thought he had one of the best pitchers in the NPL returning for duty this season in burly Bob Marr, 6-4 and 210 pounds, but the big chucker was struck by a bus in Pacific last December and will not pitch this year. Figone feels that "the loss of Marr has changed the whole complexion of our season."

Figone, whose nine was 2-17-1 in 1965, is probably right when he says that "our success will hinge on how these pitchers improve through the season."

OVER AT near-by Oceana pitching is a strong-point.

Coach Lawler has four sound chuckers ready for the NPL wars: Max Tellez, Charlie Morello, Ron Jones and Dave Sheppard.

Tellez, a lefty, and Morello, a right-hander and one of the North County's best prep golfers to boot, figure to stack up with anything the rest of the loop can throw at the Sharks.

"There is no doubt that pitching depth is our biggest asset," commented Lawler.

Oceana went 4-6 in NPL play last year and 8-12 overall for one of its better campaigns since the school opened but Lawner is reserved about his club's chances this time: "We are hoping for better than an even split this season, but, really, if things go right, this could be our best season."

Oddly enough, where the Sharks are in trouble is where the Tigers are tough: in the infield and in the hitting department.

Figone's crew has its entire infield returning intact from last year.

Catching, Al has Monte Post behind the plate. He has caught for three years now and is being counted on to be the mainstay of the Tigers' first line of defense.

Mike Castro and Bob Compton are dueling over first base. Castro fielded over .980 last year.

All-league Bill McPhillips returns at second base. He hit .344 in NPL action last time.

Two basketball players, Mike Duerloo and Jim Bresnahan, are fighting for the third base slot. Figone terms this spot "a dogfight" for first team duty.

At shortstop Jim Maule and Marty Martindale are battling for first club status. Martindale is a transfer from Mills of the Mid-Peninsula League.

OCEANA'S LAWLER has his problems with his infield. Catching is wide-open with Floyd MacElroy, Ron Monjure and Stan Winfield all having a good crack at starting.

Mike Burger and Byron Petty will try out at first base with Petty moving back to the outfield if Burger can do the job.

A pair of frosh-soph grads move up to challenge for the second base job: Mike Humphries and Mike Needham. At third base Lawler has

Larry Tellez working and considers him "the only solid player in the infield."

The Shark mentor is looking for "anyone who can catch the ball" to play short-stop.

Both schools seem to be well-fixed with outfield talent.

Terra Nova has Jim Sukosky, John Vallerio, Glen Shanks, Mike Reynolds, Mike Kenny, Ron Turner, Jim Bonner and Mike Woodward ready to challenge for jobs in the pastures.

Reynolds hit over .450 in league play last year as a part-time catcher and ought to feel more at home in the outfield.

Oceana will have Max Tellez (when he isn't pitching) playing center field and Petty, Tim Wilson and Burt Ramirez working in the Shark greens.

BOTH COACHES tab South San Francisco (who else?) as the nine to beat this year.

The Warriors had won the championship for two straight years until last year when El Camino usurped their role and took the title with a 10-0 record.

Both Figone and Lawler say that South S.F. ought to return to its old winning ways again this year.

Pacifica prep fans are saying, however, that if they could combine the two local high schools into one unit it would seriously threaten the Warriors for the crown.

Well, they can dream, can't they?

Colts Whip Crestmoor's Cindermen

Three triples—one in the varsity and two in the B division—highlighted El Camino High School's sweep of Crestmoor's track and field forces last Friday.

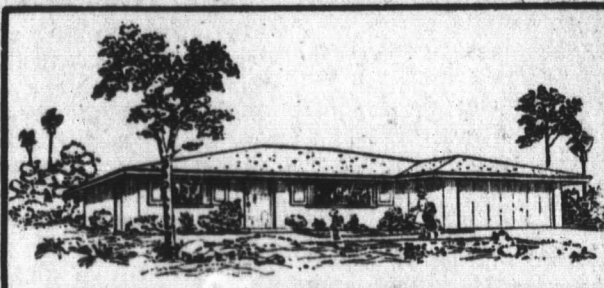

The Colt varsity won, 87-44; the B's clouted the Falcons, 72-45; and the C's triumphed, 58-37.

Gary Armstrong, a newcomer to the Colt campus via the transfer route, took the 880, 440 and broad jump for the B's.

Dean Case won both hurdles and the high jump for the Colt's.

Crestmoor freshman star Don Banning won the 100 in 11.0 and the 220 in 25.0.

Sharks Edge Burlingame 9 For First Win

Oceana High School got its 1966 baseball season off to a surprisingly auspicious start last Friday by edging Burlingame, 5-3, in Pacifica.

The Sharks got their winning runs on a homer by Mike Burger in the fourth inning.

Bert Ramirez walked to open the fourth frame. Burger's blast gave the home nine the lead at 4-3.

Oceana added an insurance tally in the fifth inning on an unearned run. A dropped fly, a steal of second and two wild pitches gave the Sharks their final run.

CSM Has High Hopes For Baseball

Head baseball coach John Noce is optimistic that the experience of seven returning starters will make College of San Mateo a contender in this year's Golden Gate Conference horsehide race.

The freshman roster is also sprinkled with former prep stars—such as Minnesota Twins draftee Chuck Chase, a right-fielder from San Mateo High School, and 6-5, 215-pound all-county Jerry Sullivan, first baseman from Jefferson.

Three second team all-Golden Gate Conference selections and pitcher Fred Cavaglia head the list of returnees:

Shortstop John Herron from Mills was CSM's leading hitter last year with a .343 average. He'll try to up that mark four points this season to catch Kuch Reitz who holds the modern CSM career batting record of .347. Herron already holds a career record with his 11 doubles and hopes to add to that mark this season.

Brian Cate, third baseman from El Camino, was the Bulldogs' top batter in practice games last year with a .359 average and had a .338 season mark.

The third all-conference returnee is leftfielder Jim Magnuson, who also doubles as a catcher. The former San Carlos High "athlete-of-the-year" batted .309 in 1965.

Completing the starting infield is returning second baseman Andy Baracco who batted .396 during the just completed winter league season. The Rioridan graduate, who also plays right field, was the Crusaders' "most valuable player" and a three-time Catholic Athletic League all-star.

The remaining outfielder is Bob Burrill in center, who batted .333 for the practice season and .266 over-all last season.

John Costa, who shared catching duties with Magnuson last season, is again a regular backstop this season. The St. Francis (Mountain View) grad batted .311 in conference play last season and .274 over-all.

The return of CSM's top pitcher of 1965, Cavaglia, is a high spot in Noce's optimism. Cavaglia was tabbed "player-of-the-year" by the Burlingame Advance-Star as an all-CAL player in 1964 and was the Matean workhorse last season. He appeared in 15 games, winning seven and losing four. Cavaglia

LONG-TIME Daly City resident Rex Golobic, right, is congratulated by Jim Jones of radio station KABL after that station named Golobic Citizen of the Day for his work with handicapped children at his Serra Bowl lanes.

Cage Tourney Set for D.C.

The Daly City Recreation Department's Basketball program will come to a close Saturday, with the presentation of the annual Tri-City All Star Day activities at the War Memorial Building.

Boys from grades fifth, six, seven, and eight will represent Daly City, Pacifica, and South San Francisco as these three cities match their strongest teams against each other in tournament competition.

The program will get under way at 10 a.m. with the fifth grade All-Star team meeting the championship teams from the Daly City leagues. At 12 o'clock the sixth grade teams from each city will begin tournament play followed by the seventh grade teams at 1:30 and ending with eighth grade basketball action at 3.

had a 3.34 earned run average with 80 strike outs and only 27 walks against him. He was unbeaten in practice games (3-0) with a 1.21 ERA.

Second to Cavaglia in Noce's pitching rotation is Don Lembi from Burlingame High who was 1-2 for CSM last season.

Third and fourth men are freshmen Rick Deutscher from

Cap, Indians Swamped By Crestmoor

Crestmoor High School's Falcon swimming teams won two of three divisions in a triangular practice meet last Friday.

The Falcons clouted Capuchino and Jefferson in the varsity division by scoring 87 points to the Mustangs' 64 and the Indians' 13.

Crestmoor also won the Class C division with 54 markers. The San Bruno mermen placed second in the Class B division behind Capuchino.

Rioridan defeated Jefferson last Thursday, 66-19 and Serra throttled South San Francisco, 53-36 on Friday in other North County practice meets.

S.S.F.'s Tim Tambini swam to a school record of 2:21.1 in the 200 individual medley.

Ravenswood and Norm Angelini from Serra. Noce expects "good things" from Angelini—who pitched two perfect games for the Padres last season.

Bill DiVita, veteran reliever from Sequoia, returns to the Bulldog bullpen. He won his only decision in 10 appearances last year and had a 3.05 ERA.

You're ahead in a Ford

And booming sales prove it! More and more people are switching to Ford every day...and no wonder. Fords do things other cars can't. • You can have a radio in any car, but Ford offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that turns your car into a concert hall with music of your choice. • Most station wagons have a one-way tailgate, but Ford's Magic Doorgate swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. • Most cars offer a choice between manual and automatic shift, but Fairlane's GT/A Sport Shift works both ways. • Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD MEYERS

Diane Louise Rasmussen, Richard Lee Meyers Wed

Diane Louise Rasmussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rasmussen of 1204 Nimitz Drive, Colma, and Richard Lee Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lahr of LomaMar, were married in St. Peter's Episcopal Church in San Francisco.

The bride is a graduate of Westmoor High School and San Mateo Junior College. She is a model with the House of Charm and is a member of Job's Daughters, Bethel 158.

For the wedding, she wore a gown of candlelight poi de soie and rose point lace and an empire sheath dress with bell sleeves and detachable train, embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and white orchids.

The maid of honor was Rae Ann Wilson. Bridesmaids were lice Linder and Linda McArthur. Nancy Weber was the flower girl and Paul Weber the ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length sheath gown of chartreuse and gold brocade satin. She carried a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a royal blue dress.

The best man was Jim Meyers, brother of the groom. Ushers included Marvin Lahr and Doug Heskett.

A reception was held in the non-commissioned officers club at the Presidio.

Promises, Nothing But Promises!

Karen White and Sharon Kraus, two Senior Girl Scouts from Daly City Troop No. 70, received an unusual communication in the mail recently.

Each girl got an envelope which she had addressed to herself from the Girl Scout Senior Roundup last July in Farrgut, Idaho. The envelope contained a promise she made to herself at the end of the two week encampment.

The envelopes containing these promises, made by each of the nine thousand Senior Wecouts at the Roundup, were entrusted to Mrs. Holton R. Price, Jr., President of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., who mailed them back to the girls in time to coincide with the celebration of Girl Scout Week March 6-12.

The theme of the week's observance is "Girl Scouting — A Promise in Action."

Commenting on the significance of the Girl Scout Promise, Mrs. Everett Heagney, Chairman of the Parkview Neighborhood, said, "All of us need to be reminded of the standards we should like to set for ourselves."

"The Girl Scout Promise expresses a high ethical code in simple, basic terms. Its importance lies in the fact that girls can understand, remember and act on it."

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

Sale of tickets to the Artists and Models fashion show being sponsored by the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club will go on sale tomorrow evening at the regular monthly meeting of the club, according to publicity chairwoman Mrs. Dorothy Bergin.

Mrs. Walter Tafalis is the general chairman of the annual fashion festival and her co-chairwoman will be Mrs. George Valente.

Mrs. J. Tony Pacheco and Mrs. Phillip Dittmore are the co-chairmen of the reservations and will be the ladies to see or phone if you wish to attend the April 23 presentation of fashions from the collection of The Fashion of Westlake.

Other members of the fashion show committee include Mrs. Joseph Arnold and Mrs. John Dean, investment; Mrs. James Ruth, donations; Mrs. Robert Battaglia, door prizes; Mrs. Martin Krenn, program; Mrs. Harry Hetzel, decorations; Mrs. William Oretger and Mrs. John Candaw, hostesses, and Mrs. Roy Galli, model.

According to Mrs. Bergin the program will be held in the South San Francisco Elk's Club and show guests may look forward to being eligible to win such lovely prizes as a color television, a Carnaby knit dress or a gourmet basket.

Marilyn Wagner and Darrel Dillon Mandersched have selected June 11 as the date for their nuptials in the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wagner of Daly City and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wagner, also of that city, and Mr. and Mrs. Thor Petersen of Santa Rosa. The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Mandersched of Balboa Island, and is currently teaching math and coaching track and football at San Diego High School in Garden Grove.

After waiting more than 2 years for reservations, 100 local members of the White Shrine and an additional 100 members of the San Mateo Masonic Lodge spent almost four hours touring San Quentin Prison recently.

The group dined within the prison walls, toured a cell block, and viewed the gas chamber, the chapels and the manufacturing plants prior to being entertained by inmates' orchestra and vaudeville company.

The Westlake Senior Citizens will celebrate all the March birthdays and have a St. Patrick's day observance next Wednesday afternoon, according to Willard Wagner, publicity chairman for the group.

This past week the club toured the Krug and Christian Brothers wineries in the Napa Valley and visited the Vallejo Mansion and the old mission at Sonoma before returning home.

The Raise-the-Roof party held at the site of the new Phoebe Hearst Pre-school Learning Center actually did almost raise the roof—at the offices of the Painter's Union, Local Number 41.

According to Mrs. Selmar Monro, members attended the party last Wednesday in a variety of work clothes. Just for fun and effect the ladies arrived in painter's overalls, coveralls, etc., and they almost proved too authentic! An unemployed painter passing by thought they were really planning to deprive the members of his union of a job. He telephoned the local, and out came a business agent to investigate.

The flabbergasted ladies couldn't believe they were being taken so seriously, Mrs. Monro said. After playing the agent with a bite of luncheon and giving him their solemn assurances, they sent him away smiling!

Since 1870, the auxiliary has provided pre-school education for more than 65,000 youngsters. The new building will provide nursery education for 400 children between the ages of 24 and 54 months.

There will be teacher training courses, parent education classes, volunteer training, a lecture hall capable of seating 150 persons, and a child art research lab to study means to detect mental deviation through a child's scribbles and paintings.

Individuals are invited to become sponsors by contributing $10, Mrs. Monro reports. Anyone interested should mail the donation to Mrs. Robert Erickson, 214 28th Avenue, San Francisco.

Cub Scout pack 63 held its annual Blue and Gold Banquet and Pinewood Derby at Westmoor High School this past week and eight young scouts were awarded prizes for their derby entries.

Taking first prize in the speed trials was David Hill. Runners-up were Jimmy Madden, second prize; George Schaefer, third place, and Milton Poulos, fourth.

Winners in the show judging were Tom Fredrico, first prize, and Steven Mazzola, second place. Third and fourth place ribbons went to James Liston and Keith Rogers.

Prize winners in the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton Home "Project Enterprise" were Mrs. Mel Bocci, Mrs. Peg Crandall, Mrs. Lee Stringer, Mrs. Gall Mahoney, Mrs. Mary O'Neil, Mrs. Marie Poggio and Mrs. Peter Markovich.

Project Enterprise is an annual four-week period during which members of the circle prepare individual fund raising activities for the home. This year prizes were dispensed with because of the large number of honorees but deep appreciation was the order of the day.

Mrs. Poggio and Mrs. Markovich has worked together on a luncheon and bingo party as their project and the other ladies had held a surprise luncheon and recipe sale to lend financial support for the home. Following the luncheon the recipes for the dishes served were offered for sale at 25 cent each.

Anyone looking for good lenten dishes or sumptuous desserts should call Mrs. Bocci, PL 5-5700 and arrange to purchase some of the recipes available.

A search is on for organizations to take part in the Spring Folk Dance Festival to be held in May, according to Mrs. Frank Murphy, publicity woman for the event.

The program has as its patron the Mens' Club of the Holy Angels Parish. The Womens' Guild, the Knights of Columbus, and the Italian Catholic Federation are sponsoring booths to assist in efforts to raise money for the retirement of the debt on the land for a noviate for the sisters of the Order of the Holy Infant Jesus.

Groups interested in taking part are asked to call Joe Gumina, general chairman, PL 6-3325.

The members of the Holy Angels Women Guild are also preparing for a Day of Remembrance on March 20, according to Mrs. Marty Segue. Mrs. Elaine Frates, PL 5-2029, is accepting reservations.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

AREN'T WE having the wildest weather these days? One day it's sunny and the next day it's raining and blowing. (Hm, sounds like a good first line for a song doesn't it?)

When the weather is sunny we are not too inclined to stay in the house and create fancy dishes, are we? But when the weather worsens, that's the time to work in a warm kitchen.

As I write this column, the sun is shining and it's hailing, how's that for wild weather? Certainly, it's stay in the house time weather and it has started me thinking of a dish that takes some time and care. But the results are so delicious that it's more than worth the time and care involved in creating it.

CHICKEN PIE

- 1 stewing chicken, cut up, about four pounds
- 1 cup chopped celery tops
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 1 tablespoon salt
- Water
- 1/2 cup chicken fat or butter
- 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 cups chicken stock
- 1 cup light cream
- Salt and pepper
- 1 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- Three-fourths teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 egg
- Milk

Wash the chicken pieces and place in a large kettle with celery onions and salt. Add water just to cover. Cover tightly and simmer slowly until chicken is tender. Remove chicken pieces and place in a two-quart casserole or baking dish.

Strain broth, skim off fat. Measure fat and, if necessary, add butter to make up one-half cup. Heat fat in sauce pan; stir in flour. Gradually stir in chicken stock and cream. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over chicken. Heat oven to 400 degrees.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in butter with a pastry blender or two knives until as fine as meal. Break egg into a measuring cup; add enough milk to measure one-half cup. Beat slightly. Add to dry ingredients and mix lightly.

Roll out on lightly floured board to one-half inch thickness. Cut with two-inch cutter. Arrange biscuits over chicken and bake 15 minutes or until biscuits are brown and gravy is bubbling. Makes four to six servings.

NOW HOW about the day when the weather is beautiful and the urge to take advantage of such good weather is overwhelming? What we need for this situation is a dish that is quick and easy and yet tasty enough to please the whole family. This stew fits all the requirements and one more—it's an inexpensive dish.

SPEEDY STEW

- 2 pounds stew meat (beef or veal)
- 1 can mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup wine or water
- 1 package dried onion soup mix

Place beef in a casserole with a fitted cover. Pour soup over meat and rinse out the soup can with either wine or water and add the wine or water. Lastly, shake onion soup mix over all and cover. Cook in 325-degree oven for 1 1/2 hours or until meat is fork tender.

If desired add package of frozen mixed vegetables for last 10 minutes of cooking time. Serve with rice or mashed potatoes.

YOU LOYAL readers know that I feel no meal is complete without a dessert. And this particular dessert would go nicely with either of these dishes. For your oven is hot and you will have to turn up the oven heat and bake these pinwheels just before dinner.

CHERRY PINWHEEL DESSERT

- 2 cups biscuit mix
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup milk
- One-third cup brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons soft butter
- 1 can cherry pie filling
- Whipped cream

Add the shortening to the biscuit, mix and cut in finely. Stir in milk with a fork until dough is soft but not sticky. Knead gently eight or 10 times on a lightly floured surface.

Roll out into a rectangle, 8 by 10 inches, and spread with the mixture of brown sugar and butter. Roll as you would a jelly roll, starting with the shorter side to make a roll eight inches long. Cut in six slices and place in greased muffin tins (use the large three-inch tins).

Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a pre-heated 425-degree oven. Top with cherry pie filling and whipped cream and serve immediately.

San Bruno's St. Thomas Lutheran Unit Sells Site

St. Thomas Lutheran Church has completed the sale of its property at 310 Poplar Avenue in San Bruno.

The purchaser is the North County Board of Realtors, which will use the property for its central office.

St. Thomas will retain possession until April 15. The final sale has been delayed a number of months to give St. Thomas the additional time needed to acquire the necessary easements for its new property near Crestmoor High School.

Despite the fact that the congregation is involved in the difficult task of moving out of the church which has been its home for 17 years, Pastor May reports that worship services will continue at 310 Poplar Avenue Church until Easter Sunday. The Sunday morning schedule will remain unchanged: worship services at 8:15 and 11 a.m. and Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:30 a.m.

Lenten services were begun on Ash Wednesday and will continue to be held every Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. until the week before Easter. During Holy Week, there will be special services at 7:30 p.m. on Maundy Thursday and Good Friday.

The San Bruno Park School District has granted St. Thomas permission to use the Parkside School for Worship Services beginning on April 17.

St. Thomas plans to continue using Parkside School until the new St. Thomas Church is erected on the Crestmoor site.

Ram Drama Student Is Accepted

An advanced drama student at Westmoor High School has been accepted by San Francisco State College for the spring semester under the advanced placement program of Westmoor and San Francisco State.

Susan Irby was the only applicant for the program and she met all the requirements: she is a senior, has a 3.5 grade point average, and received a faculty recommendation.

Susan plans to take a special course in dramatics plus a freshman English course; she has a long history of drama experience. She attended the S.F. State Drama Workshop during the summer, on a scholarship, and has played in "Hecuba," a Julian Company production of which she is a member.

She also played the role of a wigmaker in Westmoor's dramatic production, "Rashomon." She plans to attend S.F. State again in the fall and major in drama.

Susan will attend morning classes at Westmoor and then two afternoon classes at S.F. State, for which she will receive college credit.

In the past, advanced placement students have received above average grades in competition with college freshmen. Past students have taken classes in such fields as French, English, sociology and history.

Westmoor Holds Play Rehearsals

Rehearsals for Westmoor's spring musical, "Finian's Rainbow," have begun under the direction of Robin Jackson, Howard Loeffler, and Marsha Wilson, a Westmoor graduate.

The lead female part, "Sharon," will be portrayed by Cathy Jones; "Woody," lead male part, will be played by John Spencer.

Principal supporting roles include Richard Davenport as the leprechaun; George Estacopio as "Finian"; Randy Bloom as the sheriff; Craig Castro as "Senator" Billboard Rawkins; and Larry Mechler as Rawkins' right hand man.

Sue Walsh will play "Susan the Silent," a character who is mute throughout the play and speaks only through dancing.

Connie and Carol Crider, new Westmoor students from Mission High School, are dancers. Marshall Brown will play "Henry!"

Dates of performances are March 24, 25, and 31, and April 1 and 2. Tickets are $1.

Money from the play will go towards scholarships for graduating seniors in drama, such as summer workshops.

Part of it will go to install a new sound system in the Little Theater.

This Is Where We Came In

CALIFORNIANS with long memories may cast a jaundiced eye upon Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh's newly prepared bill calling for an additional cent of state sales taxes to be earmarked exclusively for the state school fund. A good many of the state's taxpayers clearly recall that the first sales tax enacted in the state was a "temporary" measure to rescue the schools early in "depression days" when sagging revenues were a threat to the public education program.

Since that time, the sales taxes imposed by the state have advanced to three cents on the dollar and local sales taxes are claiming an additional cent. If Unruh's measure wins approval, there will be a whole nickel chipped off every purchasing dollar—a full five per cent of all purchasing power taxed away at the counter, save on the sales of food-stuffs and drugs.

The ingenious Mr. Unruh is not without an attractive and plausible bait for his proposal. He tells us that it would increase public school foundation programs by $141 per child, the largest increase in state support for the schools in California history.

"Nearly all of these new funds would be applied toward property tax reduction in the poorer districts of the state—overall, the tax rate reduction would average 25 per cent," his press release declares.

THE TITLE of the bill is admirably calculated to drive home a promise of property tax relief. It is entitled "The Property Tax Relief and School Improvement Act of 1966."

Mr. Unruh has devised a most enticing argument. He says:

"Two major elements have emerged from the two-year study of local property taxation and the state tax structure recently concluded . . . One is that the property tax, given the high rates that are levied throughout California today, may have outlived its usefulness as a major support of local government.

The other is that the traditional thought that the sales tax hits the poor family harder than the middle-class family is simply not true today in California."

That sounds awfully good but, however much we desire tax relief at the local level, all experience tends to show that agencies holding tax powers are loath to decrease levies from current levels even when other funds become available from state or federal sources, or from increased assessments. This is notably true of school taxation.

BEFORE WE take Mr. Unruh's bait there would have to be some real assurance that local property taxes would really be reduced. It is quite certain that the additional sales tax would be collected and an added tax is still a tax no matter which pocket it is paid from.

But we can compliment Mr. Unruh on one point. At least he has had the grace to refrain from calling the added sales tax "temporary." We've heard that one so often.

Olivier As Arab Leader

Barbara Bladen

LAURENCE OLIVIER is in blackface again. First he applied it for "Othello" and now we're to see him playing the famed Arab leader Mahdi who battled against the British at Khartoum in 1885.

"Olivier is interested in this period in history," explained 26-year-old Jim Katz who has been on location in Cairo and London with the picture for the past eight months. "He can talk in a heavy Indian accent that would fool the Sudanese on the set."

"Khartoum" is the next Cinerama movie due at the Golden Gate Cinerama (San Francisco's one and only now) in June.

The film is actually a biographical epic drama of General Charles Gordon, played by Charlton Heston, known to all British subjects as an heroic British soldier.

He's described as a soldier who hated taking life, yet could be utterly ruthless when occasion demanded. He was fantastically courageous and would enter enemy camps alone and unarmed. When he was fighting along the Nile, 80 years ago, Prime Minister Gladstone, played by Ralph Richardson, sent 7,000 picked men from the crack regiments of the British Army to save him. They arrived two days too late.

United Artists is quick to point out the differences between "Khartoum" and "Lawrence of Arabia" which took place in history 15 years after Gordon's exploits.

"All British officers are of the same mold and that's why Gordon will seem similar to Lawrence," Katz remarked.

SINCE THERE was very little information available on the Mahdi, Olivier did personal research on his voice and characteristics from Arab traits. Research on the two protagonists was taken from authentic letters which passed between the two. In real life, they never met in person. In the film, the Mahdi's warriors kill the British officer.

"There is a famous etching in all British children's history books that shows Gordon being speared to death at the top of the palace stairs at Khartoum. He is a national British hero who was favored by Queen Victoria but didn't get along with Gladstone who was elected after Disraeli's death."

Gordon had distinguished himself in China during the opium wars and his colorful life lends itself to Cinerama because of the panorama and action of the battles.

The film features a notable cast of male actors but includes only one woman, a belly dancer from Casablanca.

"During Farouk's time the dancers were nearly nude, now Nasser makes them cover even their midriffs with gauze," our young publicity co-ordinator added.

Benjamin Franklin School

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN SCHOOL was the first facility in the Jefferson Elementary School district to become a junior high school, holding seventh and eighth grades. The school started in 1952 with only four classrooms and an enrollment of 280 students on double sessions. Today, there are 38 rooms and an enrollment of 1,225 students. The last addition, six classrooms, was completed in 1963-64. The school's first principal was Marjorie Tobias. Harry Aronson, the present principal, has served since 1963-64.

Better Business

The Williamsons Are Back Again

Lorene Beasley

THE BETTER Business Bureau last week issued a press release warning San Mateo County citizens that the "Terrible Williamsons" had checked into a local motel and were ready to start their annual spring cleanup.

The bureau alerts the public every spring concerning the seasonal operations of these nomads and it is impossible to estimate how many thousands of dollars San Mateo consumers have saved through such bureau activities.

The bureau received many calls asking advice concerning signing contracts with the questionable itinerants. But the many sticky, new black-top driveways gave mute testimony to the fact that, in spite of these bureau warnings, the Williamsons did a very profitable business in 1965.

JUST HOW many Williamsons are roaming the country, cheating the public of staggering sums, cannot be calculated. For over 60 years, they have been the most successful professional swindlers in the world for two reasons: One, the individual swindle seldom brings a charge against the itinerant greater than misdemeanor.

Such charges as peddling without a city license or misrepresentation of products is usually punishable by a small fine or possibly a short jail sentence.

The Williamsons consider a fine of $100 as overhead expense. They post a cash bond, which they jump or, they are ordered out of town.

Two, people hate to admit being "taken" and do not report the swindle to the proper authorities.

THE WILLIAMSONS are of Scottish descent, the originator of the clan, a Robert Logan Williamson, coming from Scotland in 1890.

It is practically impossible for an outsider to trace the genealogy of the clan due to the fact that first names are often duplicated within a family.

This very successfully confuses the law authorities as to which member they may be looking for.

It has been estimated that there are around 100 families who roll across the country in good-looking cars, trailers and trucks, following the same pattern of stopping at motels on outskirts of cities and working suburban and country areas.

Motel owners are left with unpaid bills and missing bedding. Some of the gang operate from mobile homes while others establish a "permanent" address before taking up their questionable occupations.

They are all proud of their lineage and equally proud of their highly perfected swindling skill.

DOOR-TO-DOOR selling was practiced in the early years of their activities. The men often posed as seamen who had smuggled into the country the "Made in N.Y." Oriental rugs and the cheap domestic-made Irish laces they peddled.

In recent years, they have changed from straight merchandising to the more lucrative home repair services such as driveway sealing, roof coating and house painting.

The typical approach is for one or two men to drive up to a housewife's door in a truck bearing an out-of-town license (some purchase license plates in every state).

They point out any driveway cracks or defects and offer to do the job for a very low price because "they have just completed a neighborhood job and have enough material to do one more driveway."

The job usually runs from $75 to $350, which must be paid in cash.

The driveway sealcoating is a mixture of drain oil and naphtha gas which takes months to dry. The roofcoating is made of a similar mixture which cracks and washes off with the first heavy rain.

THE WILLIAMSONS roam about farm and suburban areas looking for buildings in need of paint jobs. The owner contracts for a job done with the good paint they display in cans.

Often their story is that Sherwin Williams has hired them to demonstrate its paint and the job will be done for labor costs only.

Not only good paint is not used but poor paint is mixed with crankcase oil or some other adulterate, which will wash off in rain.

Better Business Bureau advises the consumer to do business only with firms of known reliability.

First Trial For The Blue Cards

Don Miller

"WELL, IT WORKED pretty well, didn't it?"

The gentleman with the question and a beaming face to go with it was Elio Fontana, chairman of the board of trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District. And he had just finished conducting what had been forecast as another torrid meeting over proposals to shift students between schools.

What worked well, in Fontana's opinion, was a new procedure, invoked for the first time, that required members of the audience who wanted to speak to indicate so on a small, blue card.

The procedure was incorporated in a new policy adopted by the board January 10, designed to speed up meetings and to restrict audience comments to those items listed on the board agenda. It drew an immediate blast from some observers who said the whole idea would stifle the traditional freedom audiences at board meetings had a right to enjoy.

SINCE MORGAN, in his analysis had recommended against the most controversial part of the boundary committee's report—shifting of students between Jefferson and Westmoor High Schools, we couldn't determine whether the small audience response was attributable to this factor or to the new policy of signing cards.

Time, as it always does, will tell whether the proponents or the critics of the policy are right and whether, indeed, public expression will or will not be scared off by the formal business of signing a card.

From a reporting standpoint, we'll be the first to acknowledge that the policy is a boon to getting names and address of people who have something to say to the board. It's all down there on the card.

As any newsmen at a stormy hearing will tell you, there's nothing quite so difficult as trying to get the correct spelling of a name and address, mumbled through an off-times inefficient loudspeaker setup, by someone who rushes out of the joint afterward before the newsmen can catch up with him.

As we did in an earlier column, we'll again refrain from passing judgement on the card policy until after a few more meetings provide a better test.

However, we'll pass on the observation of Al Rigler of the Brisbane Elementary School Board who sat in on the Jeff meeting last week.

Rigler said he thought the policy was fine for meetings expected to be controversial but should not be followed for routine sessions. He may have a point there but from past experience, it's safe to say you never know when one of these school board meetings is going to erupt. And then what do you do—switch policies in mid-stream?

MORE ON THE school front: What probably will be one of the most interesting elections ever held in the North County is shaping up in the wake of the state's approval of a plan to unify all the school districts within the area comprised by the Jeff High School District.

Where we had 25 trustees governing five school districts, now we're going to have only seven steering one district if voters approve the plan at the June primary election. That makes quite a mathematical problem—25 to 7. It comes out like 18 in the cold.

One of the more imaginative—and chivalrous—battle plans shaping up is the Bayshore School District board's plan to choose one of their members to run from the Bayshore trustee area.

As one observer of the Bayshore scene put it the other day, "none of the board members would think of running against each other." That's what we call a large order of selflessness. And, by any count, its good campaigning for you usually have to give the nod to one "somebody" in an election running against one or more "nobodys."

WHILE WE'RE ON the Bayshore front, that $9,000 burglary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kott of 351 Rio Verde Street last month in the Bayshore area had a sad side-note—as if the loss of that much dough isn't sad enough in itself.

The money represented the couple's life savings. It was a sum that they had received as a result of a workman's compensation claim four or five years ago, police said.

The couple had disarmed the security of a bank (San Francisco National Bank notwithstanding) and had hidden the money in a bank (ironically) money bag they had stashed in an upstairs closet.

The really sad part of the whole thing, according to investigators, is that the couple had previously lost all their money in the depression. As the old bromide goes, sometimes it doesn't just rain, it absolutely pours.

61 New Writers Join Novelists

Samuel Chandler

"WHAT'S NEW with the bookworms?" Now there's a question that I often meet. Among bookworms, the process of placing paperbacks in a hard plastic binding must be the most noticeable recent development—imagine what it does to their teeth and stomachs.

For human beings, however, there are several new things to note. One is the introduction of 61 new novelists during the Spring of 1966.

Another is the dismal view of life that they write into their books. The speak of the tragedy of the various aspects of our way of life.

They write of self-deception and adolescent sex; of how extraordinary circumstances can cause the most ordinary and gentle people to do the most outrageous things.

AMONG THESE books by new writers is "The Competitor" by Thomas J. Bontly. It is the story of Marty, the assistant manager of a hard-selling, fast-paced shoe store in a large chain. Although he has dedicated his life to the spirit of competition and compromised his moral principles, his advancements have not been forthcoming.

The story describes a particular day that proceeds with the usual competition of the clerks and the small talk that goes on even though it is the day that Marty makes his final compromise and shows proof of his moral decay.

When the day ends, he is still uncertain what to do about his future even though he has received more promises from his manager.

The author wrote the book after he came to understand the tragedy that he found in and through the commercial world when he worked as a shoe salesman.

IN NON-FICTION, a book that is receiving a lot of attention is a November publication, "The Christian Agnostic" by Leslie D. Weatherhead. Already it has been both praised and condemned.

Science fiction fans will find Isaac Asimov's "Fantastic Voyage" exciting. It has been called the most original, ingenious science fiction novel to appear in some time.

It tells of five people being sent on a rescue mission in a submarine, but this is no ordinary submarine moving through no ordinary sea. The people and the submarine are miniaturized and move through a man's blood vessels to break up a blood clot in his brain.

The miniaturization will not last — they have only 60 minutes to do the job and leave the man's body.

Saturday Evening Post is running a serial of "Fantastic Voyage" and a movie has been made of it.

For children, here's one that's new: "McBroom Tells the Truth." It is a wacky tale of a farmer with a wacky crop and it's told with a straight face and illustrated with a light touch.

BAND WILL PLAY

It Was Night For the Irish

It was obviously an evening for the Irish at a meeting of the Jefferson Union High School District board of trustees at Jefferson High School.

With nary so much as a shillelagh waved in opposition, trustees decided to bend a rule a bit and allow the Jefferson High School band to participate in San Francisco's St. Patrick's Day Parade Sunday, March 13.

The rule the trustees bent says that the band can't perform on Sundays.

Band director Richard T. Larsen, in a nine-point letter to the board, noted that the band has never before asked to perform on Sunday.

It has done so at the board's request on two occasions, he said: the dedication of Oceana High School and a fund-raising parade for Mary's Help Hospital.

District Supt. Edward Morgan recommended that trustees waive the rule. "I believe this is an exception. We're exceedingly proud of the Jefferson band."

Then, after the board voted unanimously to concur, Morgan looked out at the audience and concluded the discussion with the observation:

"Well, I see all the Irish eyes are smiling now."

Former D.C. Store Manager Arrested on Theft Charge

Daly City police last Wednesday arrested a San Anselmo man on charges of stealing merchandise from a hardware store while he was a store employee.

JACK INGHAM Faces Charge

The suspect is Jack D. Ingham, 36, former manager of Westlake Hardware in the Westlake Shopping Center.

He was released in $1,100 bail and was ordered to appear for arraignment in Northern District Court in South San Francisco Monday.

Dr. Martin H. Rudolph of Hillsborough, store owner, told police he had noticed items disappearing from the store over the past several months.

He said Ingham joined the store in August of 1965 and was discharged February 7 of this year.

Patrolman Robert Ingbrigtson, together with San Anselmo police, arrested Ingham at his home.

Investigators said they confiscated a wide assortment of sporting equipment, a stereo set, radio and other items from the suspect's home.

The investigation into the missing items began February 10, police said.

San Bruno Schools Aid Handicapped

Trustees of the San Bruno Park School District heard a report at their meeting last week on the district's special education program for educationally handicapped children.

"The children in the program are actually neurologically handicapped," said Assistant Supt. Ted Jackson. "Many of them have normal or above normal intelligence, but they perform below their potential."

San Bruno Park provides two teachers for these children, under the guidance of Dr. Robert Rottman, co-ordinator of special education. Two district psychologists also work with the children.

Jackson explained that the children in the special program are generally hyper-active, extremely energetic, and easily distracted. Their inability to concentrate, he said, often causes such children to appear retarded when that is not the case.

To remedy the problem, special measures are taken. Each child is provided with a private "office" approximately four by four feet, painted a restful neutral tone to avoid the excitement generated by bright hues. Every effort is made to keep distractions at a minimum.

Through these methods, trustees were told by the special program teachers, the handicapped children are enabled to learn.

Two Charged With Theft

Two Daly City men were arrested on burglary charges Thursday in connection with the theft of liquor from Gino's Club at 7171 Mission Street, February 25.

The suspects are James E. Bennett, 23, of 157 School Street and Richard C. Neckritz, 29, of 14 Peter Street.

Club officials reported to police that two cases of gin and a case of vodka had been taken.

GAUGE STOLEN

George Hayeman of 272 Abbot Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that an oil pressure and temperature gauge had been stolen from his auto.

Adventists Tour Woods, Sanctuary

Several families of the Pacific Seventh-day Adventist Church enjoyed a nature tour of Marin County after a morning church hour.

First stop was at Lookout Point on the Marin side of the Golden Gate Bridge to eat lunch, before a visit to the Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary at Tiburon and Muir Woods at the base of Mt. Tamalpais.

Saturday will be another big day for the congregation. Elder Joe D. Marshall, minister of the Seventh-Day Adventist Tabernacle of San Francisco, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship hour. The social committee has arranged a potluck dinner after the service. Later, the congregation will hear the Monterey Boy Academy Oceanairs sing at 3:30 p.m. at the Tabernacle Church.

The Pacifica Seventh-day Adventist Church holds services at the St. Edmund's Episcopal Church, 1500 Perez Drive, in the Linda Mar section of Pacifica.

Jefferson's CSF Program Is a Fast-Growing Concern

This semester, Jefferson High School has a growing California Scholarship Federation program.

The society of scholars began the school year by initiating a new program: a tutorial service for fellow students of Jeff. At lunch and after school, students help one another in algebra, chemistry, geometry, Spanish and French.

Among the ranks of CSF's members are two nationally outstanding students.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation has awarded Sandra Campbell and Claude Munday, both seniors, letters of commendation for exceptional scholarship as shown by the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given in high schools throughout the United States.

Last summer three senior CSF'ers went to college under scholarships awarded by the National Science Foundation.

After competing nationally for the scholarships, Munday studied chemistry and radiation biophysics at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kansas; Glenn Gee studied modern physics at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y., and Kenneth Hall studied organic chemistry at San Jose State College in San Jose.

To qualify for membership in CSF, a student must attain a minimum of ten points. In academic subjects an A is 3 points and a B is 1 point. Students may also gain a maximum of 1 point from extracurricular activities such as the Jefferson Model Senate, student government, and athletics.

CSF at Jefferson has 44 members: Seniors: Sandra Campbell, Marguerite Craig, Glenn Gee, Kenneth Hall, Alan McAllister, Mary McDonald, Katherine Molinari, Claude Munday, Kenneth Ong, Terrie Trevassani, and Nina Vernazza.

Juniors: Leonard Anspach, Cynthia Baker, Toni Cole, Connie Dong, Anacita Francisco, Gene Hockman, Janet Johnson, Gisa Ju, Agnes Lee, Dan Lee, Beverly Ng, Beverly Perada, Janet Rigler, Cathy Urbanus, and Eleanor Yee.

And sophomores: Leighton Ahpo, Jean Bodran, Katherine Cowan, Susan Chin, Mario De Vita, Cathy Donovan, Carmelita De Luna, Lisa Gutierrez, Len Grossman, Barbara Lee, Ramona Lemon, Janet Lowpinsky, Mike Macia, Alena Moura, Marian Sawyer, Peter Schultz, Adoracion Tanchoco, and Janie Wheeler.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

The Cause of Cavities—
The cause of cavities is not known, but most dentists agree sugar is considered as one of the possible factors. This is not the whole answer, but it is important to remember that if we are going to face facts, we may have to limit the sugar in our diet for the sake of our teeth. The problem is a great one. Among sugar containing items are many of the fruits, fruit juices, and vegetables. Even skimmed milk contains about 5% sugar. The list is almost endless, and includes such things as cookies, candies, soft drinks, pies, cakes, ice cream, jams, jellies, etc. Ask your dentist about the amount of sugar permissible for the health of your teeth.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions (for some) however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Let Your Guests Try Cooking Their Own Eggs

Have you ever entertained company and found your guests "Under your feet" in the kitchen?

Relax and enjoy it for that is a good indication you are a perfect hostess. You can relax and enjoy it by letting them cook their own meal, and a meal with all kinds of variations.

The omelet, easy to prepare, can be served in nearly as many ways as there is other food to go with it.

Gather the gang around the range. While one is preparing his (or her) omelet, (this takes only three or four minutes) other guests can be preparing their accompaniments.

In buffet arrangements, you can have an assortment of fillings or toppings ready so each guest can take his choice. Include bowls of fruit, a variety of cheese and jelly, seafood.

poultry meats, herbs and spices.

Teen-age-Omelets

Parents in some sections of the country are entertaining their teen-agers with omelet parties. This age group can't seem to get enough of them.

Each one makes their own omelets, but invariably wind up taking a taste of everyone else's.

The next time you and the gang are out to the movies, bring them on home for a delicious, versatile and inexpensive omelet right after the show. Everyone will be glad you did!

These Days, All of the Eggs Are Good

There's a "bad egg" in every lot! In Grandmother's time this was frequently true. Haystack eggs — laid out in the stack by hens who "stole out" of their nests were not uncommon—and some of these found their way into the channels of trade when Grandmother — or the children — needed some extra pin money.

Or, as one Grandmother, explained, "When we have all the 'peeps' (chicks) we need, we sell all the eggs."

But times have changed. Young Mrs. America has probably never seen an "inedible" egg. This is illustrated by comparing the egg inspection records of one state which does an excellent job of inspecting eggs at both the wholesale and retail level.

In 1943-44 the inspectors found inedible eggs in seven-tenths of 1 per cent of all dozens inspected — or about 2.5 eggs out of each case (360 eggs). This state reported 17,817 inspections covering 643 wholesalers and 8,161 retailers of eggs.

Twenty-one years later (1963-64) this same state made 26,651 inspections of eggs with 811 wholesalers and 7,952 retailers. They found 34 dozen which included inedible eggs—or less than one inedible egg in two cases.

The quality of eggs has improved because eggs are now treated like a perishable foodstuff — gathered from the modern "egg factory" frequently cooled to remove the animal heat rapidly, shell-treated and humidified to prevent carbon dioxide and quality losses, and rushed to market. Mrs. Housewife no longer has to break each egg into a dish separately—and smell it—for fear of finding an inedible egg. Eggs are Good — Eggs are Economical — Eggs are the Foundation of Cookery — Eggs are Good for You — Eggs are a Good Buy!

Normally, Madam Hen lays a high quality egg. The word "fresh" when applied to eggs connotes high quality such as Grades AA and A. To hold that quality, we are reminded to keep eggs in the refrigerator. Sound familiar?

The greatest single enemy of egg quality is heat. Refrigerators are commonplace in today's homes so egg storage temperature is readily controlled.

In the past, repeated tests demonstrated the rapid deterioration of "neglected" eggs... ones left at room temperature or in the heat of the kitchen. In a few days, the IQ (interior quality) of neglected eggs went down more than the quality eggs held 30 days in the refrigerator. Shell treatment done by many modern egg producers (light application of oils) tends to lessen the deterioration. Still, the place to keep eggs is the refrigerator—cold.

Like Your Eggs Fresh? Then Keep Them Cool

As for that often asked egg question—"How old can an egg be and still be fresh?"—there is no precise answer. Much depends on the conditions under which the egg has been kept.

 Nut Rolls Beverage
Stuffed Lamb Shoulder
 4 to 5 pound pre-sliced square lamb shoulder
 1/4 cup each grated Parmesan cheese and chopped parsley
 3 cloves garlic, crushed
 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves, crushed
 1/4 teaspoons each salt and pepper
 1 tablespoon water
 Have meatman use an electric saw to cut lamb (parallel with rib bones but not through arm bone) into choplike slices and then tie in original shape. Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. In a small bowl mix together the remaining ingredients; with a small spatula tuck down and spread between the slices. Roast in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees or to desired doneness. Makes 6 servings.

Poker chip pancakes are just what the master ordered. Make tiny potato pancakes, the crisp kind with coarsely grated raw potatoes and top each with a puff of sour cream and two shiny ripe olive halves.

Cooked Celery Can Be Delicious, Try These Recipes

Bugs Bunny and a lot of other folks might be a bit skeptical, but cooked celery can be delicious. Use the large, outer ribs, which in today's new strains of celery have become delightfully tender, and cook them briefly. Combine them with other vegetables, as in the delicious Fresh Celery Mornay, pictured here in color. Or, team thinly sliced celery with ham in a tempting pie, which makes a perfect luncheon dish.

Fresh Celery Mornay
 1 inch boiling water
 1 teaspoon salt
 4 cups celery slices, cut on diagonal

 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
Cheese sauce
 In a large saucepan pour boiling water and the one teaspoon salt. Add the celery slices. Cover and cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and reserve the cooking liquid to use along with milk when making cheese sauce. Set aside the cooked celery. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan and saute sliced mushrooms, remaining salt and mushrooms, remaining salt and ground black pepper. Keep hot until served with cheese sauce over top.

Cheese Sauce
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup flour
 2 cups milk plus reserved liquid
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
 1-16 teaspoon ground red pepper
 1 1/2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese
 Melt butter or margarine in a one-quart saucepan or top of double boiler. Blend in flour; slowly add milk and reserved vegetable liquid. Cook directly over low heat; stir constantly until medium thick. Stir in remainder of ingredients. Hold hot over boiling or hot water. Spoon over braised celery and mushrooms. Yield: Six servings.

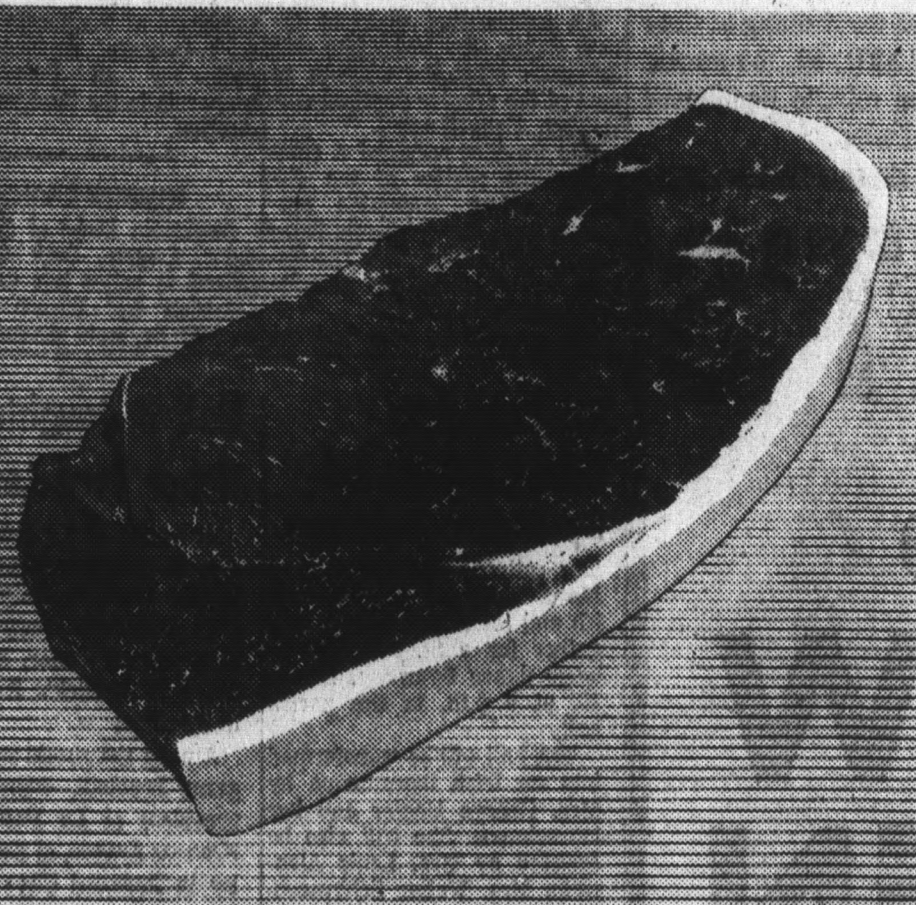

Fresh Celery-Ham Pie
 3 cups thinly sliced celery
 1/4 cup chopped onions
 1 cup sliced mushrooms
 6 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/4 cup flour
 1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon ground white pepper
 1 1/4 cups milk
 2 tablespoons sherry or marsala wine
 1 pkg. (10 oz.) pie crust mix
 1/4 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
 8 thin slices baked or boiled ham
 In large skillet, saute celery, onion and mushrooms in butter or margarine about ten minutes over medium heat. Remove from heat and stir in flour, salt and ground white pepper. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook, stirring until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in wine. Add cheese to pie crust mix. Prepare pastry as package label directs. Line a 9-inch quart casserole or baking dish with pastry. Arrange a layer of ham slices, overlapping slightly, in bottom of dish. Cover ham with one-third of vegetable mixture. Fill casserole with alternate layers of remaining ham and celery mixture, in that order. Moisten edges of pastry. Roll out remaining pastry. Cut vents in center and place over top of casserole. Seal well and flute edges. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 50 minutes or until a deep golden color. Serve hot. Yield: Four to six servings.

Baked Fresh Celery
 3 stalks celery
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 inch chicken or beef stock, or 1 beef or chicken bouillon cube and 1/2-inch boiling water
Browned butter sauce
 Remove outer ribs from stalks of celery, leaving the hearts intact. Measuring from root ends, cut celery hearts into 5-inch lengths. Split in half, lengthwise. Place in a large shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt. Pour in 1/2-inch stock, cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 minutes or until celery is tender. Serve with Browned Butter Sauce.

Browned Butter Sauce
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper
 Melt butter or margarine and heat only until golden brown. Add ground black pepper. Yield: Six servings.

Keep Salads Refrigerated
 Hard-cooked eggs, so delightful and economical to use in salads have been questioned by Public Health people as a source of potential danger in food poisoning outbreaks.

A research group from the Department of Nutrition and Food Science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, reporting in the October, 1965, American Journal of Public Health explained this theory. Their conclusions were: "The cooking times recommended in cookbooks or in institutional practice for hard-cooked eggs were found to exceed the calculated cooking times for destroying salmonella." This group artificially inoculated eggs with several types of organisms for this study.

They studied both the hot water method and the cold water method recommended for hard-cooking of eggs by the home economists of the Poultry and Egg National Board. In both instances the salmonella in the yolk were destroyed.

An interesting aspect of the study was the use of sizes of eggs and the heat penetration time. Starting with internal yolk temperature of 44.5 to 47 degrees F. and placing the eggs in boiling water, the small eggs required six minutes and jumbo eggs (30 oz. per dozen) ten minutes to reach 160 degrees F.

Salads utilizing hard-cooked eggs and salad dressing should always be refrigerated until served to avoid the possibility of food contamination. Clean eggs with sound shells have rarely been indicted as a source of trouble. Hard-cooked eggs are not only safe but nutritious and economical (spelled "eggonomic").

Boost in Driver Training Program in JUHSD Seen

The driver training program in the Jefferson High School District will probably have to be expanded because of new driving rules, trustees of the district have been informed.

Starting July 1, no student under 18 may obtain a driver's license unless he has taken driver training classes in school.

The effect of this, Richard Coltrane, administrative assistant to the superintendent, told trustees, will be an increase in demand for driver education courses.

At present, the district offers the classes only during after-school hours and in summer school.

All neighboring districts except South San Francisco and Jefferson offer the courses as part of the regular daytime curriculum, Coltrane noted.

The trustees received a comprehensive review of the district's driver education programs from the California State Automobile Association. The district had requested the association to make the review.

The association said that the impact of the new law requiring driver education courses "will be considerable upon high schools."

The report said that of a potential 1,500 Jefferson district students eligible for driver training courses in 1964-65, about 20 per cent received training.

This, the report said, compared with 62 per cent on a state-wide basis.

The trustees asked for further study on expanding the program and asked that the expansion be translated into costs.

Support Given

At their bi-monthly meeting, members of Pacificans for Human Concern, expressed support for all three ballot proposals in the Pacifica's April election.

The hall will be transformed into an Irish discotheque by Mrs. George Engler and her leprechauns. She will also be assisted by Mrs. Louis Alvarado, Mrs. Walter Schumacher and Mrs. Juan Garcia.

Jack Glendon and his co-chairman Mrs. Charles Grech, have promised to have "a little drop o' crather" on hand for the lads and lassies when they tire of doing reels and jigs. Sandwiches, potato chips and other snacks also will be served.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained from Joe Grossman, 281 Oakcrest Avenue; Jim Silvestri, 2 Bradford Drive; Jack Glendon, 701 Keoncrest Drive, and Mrs. Charles Grech, 779 Newman Drive.

JUHS Takes Step Toward Health Plan

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District have approved a preliminary step toward providing district employees with an expanded health insurance program.

They approved a series of recommendations drawn up by the district's Insurance Study Committee, contained in what the committee described as an "interim report."

The committee recommended that tentative approval be given to a plan that would provide life insurance coverage for all employees; a continuance of income in the event of disability, and continuation of membership in a health plan into retirement years.

The group also recommended that it be given authorization to interview brokers and consultants in the health insurance field and to select a consultant that, upon board approval would confer with the group and recommend a detailed health insurance plan.

An expanded plan for district employees had been under consideration by the board for several months.

SSF Council Candidate Takes Leave

The South San Francisco City Council has granted a leave of absence to Assistant City Building Inspector Roy Ghilardi, a candidate for councilman.

City ordinance prohibits campaigning for office by city employees.

Ghilardi said he will remain on leave until 8:30, April 13, the morning after the election. Depending on results of the vote, he said, he will then either resign his city job or return to work.

The action by the council was taken at a special meeting last week. Councilman Patric Ahern, who Ghilardi is opposing, introduced the resolution on the recommendation of city manager Eugene Aiello.

Ben Simpson of 125 East Moltke Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that someone had cut the top of his convertible.

Chamber President Greeted

'GEARED FOR ACTION'

Schneider Heads Bruno Chamber

Directors of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, which Manager Dick King says has been undergoing a transformation from a "sleepy, small-town merchants' association" to a "jet-age" organization, met last week to survey their progress.

Chamber Manager King reported that 34 people, including the chamber's 20 directors, two city councilmen and San Mateo County Supervisor James Fitzgerald attended the 8 a.m. Tuesday meeting.

William J. Schneider, recently elected president of the San Bruno chamber, presided over the meeting with a call for implementation of plans which have been formulated by members and committees.

Guest speaker was Robert L.

Airport Will Receive New CG Facilities

Congressman J. Arthur Younger has announced committee approval of a $1,300,000 authorization to completely modernize the U.S. Coast Guard station at San Francisco International Airport.

The facilities, originally built in 1941 as temporary war-time structures, have reached a point where they must be replaced in order to maintain the heavy activity of the station, which serve the entire bay area, Younger said.

Captain J. K. Rea, Commandant of the Coast Guard station, told Younger that he was gratified to hear of the favorable recommendation on the construction work which he described as "critically needed."

The station has a complement of 142 enlisted men, most of whom are flight personnel, 3 warrant officers, and 27 aviator officers. They handle air-sea rescue operations in the 12th Naval District, with three HH-52A Sikorsky turbine helicopters based there.

The largest item in the construction program is for a new barracks to cost $900,000; the balance is for furniture, equipment, electrical facilities, parking, roadways, and demolition work.

Cranmer, project manager for the Pacific Air Commerce Center, which is planning to develop some 3,000 acres of bay-front land to include a gigantic West Coast air cargo center.

Cranmer told the chamber that San Francisco International Airport will undoubtedly become a regional facility, serving the entire Bay Area. He added that Los Angeles is eager to provide facilities for an air cargo center, should the Peninsula fail to do so.

In the future, he said, the few hundred miles between the two locations will make little difference to those who would use the air cargo facilities.

The project manager was asked about plans to include recreation facilities in the development. In answer, he told the directors that only some 500 acres are earmarked for industry. Much of the rest, he said, is planned for marinas, golf courses, public beaches and other recreational uses.

The project would actually improve the present situation, Cranmer continued, since only a few hundred feet of Bayshore is now used or suitable for recreation in the project area in Burlingame and San Mateo.

Supervisor Fitzgerald expressed agreement with Cranmer's view that an air cargo center should be located in San Mateo County, and urged continued action and interest by the San Bruno chamber and its aviation committee.

The aviation committee reported that it had begun contacting the airlines and other industries at the airport, as well as the airport administration, in efforts to strengthen San Bruno's role in the future of the facility.

In another report, the City Beautification Committee discussed plans for improvement of San Mateo Avenue, and particularly the triangle that street forms with San Bruno and Huntington avenues. It was noted that the city has allocated funds to tear down the unused fire station at the location.

Directors also heard a push for more street tree planters and a proposal to pick "one of the shabbier buildings on San Mateo Avenue and offer the owner a free paint job."

Zone Easing For Skyline Is Proposed

A narrower scenic corridor for Skyline Boulevard and less restrictive zoning within the corridor are the key recommendations made in a report adopted by a special study committee.

The committee, headed by Carl Stigall, was appointed when a more radical plan for preparing Skyline, as urged by the county planning staff, ran into trouble with property owners along the thoroughfare.

Stigall's 28-member committee, which included a number of owners, recommended that a scenic route is desirable, that a scenic corridor ranging in width from 500 to 2,000 feet be established, that scenic easements within the corridor ranging in width from 100 to 1,000 feet obtain, that all future construction be reviewed by an architectural control committee, that roadside parks and vista points and a trails system be built, and that the zoning that existed prior to the adoption of an interim emergency zoning freeze be restored.

The report agrees to a large extent with the report of the county staff, with the important exceptions that the width of the corridor is narrower and the zoning is less restrictive.

Eight members of the committee signed a minority report differing on two points. They urged that the corridor have a minimum width of 1,000 feet and that two and a half acres be the minimum building lot size for new subdivisions within the corridor.

RADIO STOLEN
Bill Studyvin of 272 Abbot Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that a portable radio had been stolen from his auto, parked in his garage.

Citizen's Unit Formed; Raps Palace Move

Residents of the Bayshore district of Daly City are ready to "fight fire with fire" if officials of the Cow Palace go through with a plan to hold road races outside the huge North County facility on its property.

Reaction to the proposal has been so heated in the last few days that a new homeowners' action group has been formed to cope with the area's growing list of problems.

According to the new group's chairman, William Behnken of 227 Rio Verde Street, one of the prime reasons for the formation of the Bayshore Improvement Citizens Committee is to "fight the Cow Palace on this one (the proposed road races)."

The road races were first revealed two weeks ago in a story in a San Francisco newspaper.

Behnken stressed the contention of his group that "noise from the races will be intolerable."

He said that in addition to the noise there will be a safety problem since the races will be held close to residential dwellings bordering the Cow Palace.

Behnken stated that he had not gone to see officials of the Cow Palace to confirm their plans for a racing course or to see whether the plan called for racing "close" to Bayshore homes.

Behnken repeated the contention that "we (Bayshore residents) can hear race car noises when the races are held at Candlestick." He claimed the "valley acts as a resonator for noise."

The committee plans to meet every first Monday of the month. Behnken pledged that "those cars will not run and we will make sure they don't."

He added that "this one is the straw that broke the camel's back" in reference to the residents' long history of feuds with the Cow Palace.

Judging for Miss D.C. Test Set

Preliminary judging for the annual Miss Daly City contest will be held April 29 at the Westmoor High School Little Theater.

Program Director Fred Martin said Monday that the finals "will be held sometime in May" but that a date for use of the South San Francisco Elks Club (where the finals are held each year) has not been confirmed.

Single girls between the ages of 16 and 25 may run for the coveted crown. They must have been residents of the city for one year at the time of the final judging.

Boys' Club Plans Ready

LOOKING OVER plans for a proposed new Pacifica Boys' Club building are, from left, Ted Thompson, secretary of the club; Roland Terry, president; E. L. McKenzie, regional director of the Boys' Clubs of America; and Rene Isler, public relations aide with the Pacifica club. Plans for the building were reviewed at a meeting among city councilmen and members of the Planning and Park, Beach and Recreation Commissions last week at Pacifica City Hall. (Post-Times Photo)

Recreation Commissions at a joint meeting last Wednesday night.

Also present were representatives of the Pacifica Boys' Club Inc., the Boys' Clubs of America, and Challenge Developments, Inc., which donated a site for the club building.

There had been some discussion about the site, which Challenge had earlier proposed for use as a "cabana" neighborhood center.

But the developer said that such a center would serve only residents of the immediate neighborhood who would have to support it by buying memberships.

A Challenge spokesman indicated other facilities would be provided to replace the site donated to the boys' club.

Boys' Club President Roland Terry, summing up the meeting, said:

"There was a general consensus of opinion that this is the right site."

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy, one of several residents who urged caution in planning the club since Pacifica has no professional planning staff, said it was a "healthy, honest meeting."

Not all the questions were answered, she said, but at least most of them were raised.

Terry said the club will go ahead with final plans for presentation to the city along with an application for a use permit.

In addition, he said, the club will open its fund-raising campaign headquarters in Pacifica.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Entertainment and Dining

by LLOYD JOHNSON

Carrousel du Soleil A Peninsula Favorite

ALL-STAR ENTERTAINMENT is currently featured at RALPH OSWALD's swank CARROUSEL DU SOLEIL restaurant, where the EMIL MILLER BAND (Emil on piano and organ, GENE BARDOLO on drums and guitar, and ALEX MASSEY on clarinet) play for dinner-dancing five nights a week, Tuesday through Saturday, starting at 9 p.m. Located next to the CIRCLE STAR THEATER in San Carlos, the dining room is open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Call ANTONINE DE VOS, the genial maitre d', for a new adventure in dining. . . . Replacing LORENZO PIETROBON as dining room captain at DAN BIAGI and RENE CANABOU's elegant COTE D'AZUR Continental restaurant in Atherton, these days, is handsome ANGELO LAZARI, who hails from Italy. He's a shear artist in the ceremonial presentation of Continental cuisine.

TWO NEW ENTERTAINERS are making their San Francisco debut at Luz Garcia's popular Sinaloa cantina on Powell Street. Joining the merry-go-round of sparkling talent, this week, were Anita Vasquez, a beautiful and shapely dancer who hails from Cuba, and handsome Raul Lara, a young singer from Mexico who brings round after round of enthusiastic applause every time he steps on stage. These two entertainers, plus Sinaloa's regular all-star cast which includes Olga and Tomas, Raquel Flores, and Los Roquet, add up to one of the best revues in Northern California. . . . Well now, what have we at the King's Bowl? Word reaches your Bright Lighter that starting tonight, there will be dinner-dancing every Friday and Saturday evening from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of The Romanos. There's a "no cover or minimum" policy, too. What with all the famous Romanos in the food and restaurant business, the King's Bowl Blue Peacock Room will be "overflowing" if but a part of this orchestra's namesakes show up. And I'm calling this new program to the attention of Enrico "King" Romano, the Pacific restaurateur who trips the light fantastic like a pro.

BRADLEY GIANNOTTI, 19-month-old son of RON GIANNOTTI, SURF HOUSE restaurant owner, can't wait 'til March 13 rolls around. Bradley was one of more than 50 youngsters of his age to be entered into a baby contest last Saturday. The winner will garner beaucoup prizes at the Coronation on March 13 at San Mateo High School. Lots of luck, Brad. . . . There's an entirely new sound emanating from the San Francisco Airport these nights, as "THE SPIES" sing and swing their way into the hearts of enthusiastic dancers at BILL GILBERT's wild TIGER-A-GO-GO CLUB at the HILTON INN. This marks the first time "The Spies" have played the Bay Area. And from the way the crowds are responding to them, it won't be their last. . . . LA HACIENDA INN in Los Gatos, one of the Peninsula's most dazzling show-place restaurants, serves some of the finest American and Continental dishes found anywhere. Hosts are RENZO PIETROBON, DICK BOHN and CHARLIE MOROSIN.

BILL DENT, commander of Redwood City's LEGION POST 105, is delighted over the interest shown for the upcoming St. Patrick's Day party on March 19. If you haven't already purchased your ticket ($2.50 per person), you can do so by stopping in at the lounge any day of the week. The traditional corned beef and cabbage dinner is included in the price. Entertainment will be supplied by BUD COLTON and his orchestra. . . . SHERI ASHTON, one of the topless stars at the MOULIN ROUGE, is a real outdoor type—loves to swim, hike, ride horseback and sail. When fans see her 36-24-34 figure, they "sail," too. . . . Whether your heart's desire is in getting an earful of the talented GARY LONG TRIO, or an eyeful of ERIKA MASON, the well-rounded cocktail waitress, you'll have the time of your life when visiting FRED and JERRY RAPP'S HOLIDAY INN in South San Francisco. Entertainment six nights a week. . . . PHILCO folks, led by DICK WILSON, held a dinner-meeting at DEL VECCHIO'S in San Francisco.

HOPE YOU REALIZE that Vince Licata's Seafood Depot, located a few steps from his well known El Camino Real Italian and Sea Food Restaurant, is the original Fisherman's Wharf of the Peninsula. Whether you prefer fresh cooked crab, poultry or imported Danish Samsoe, you'll load your shopping bag to the brim. Open seven days a week daily from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Sunday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. . . . For the many Peninsula families who enjoy prime rib at its best, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is highly recommended. The fork-cutting orders served here will send you away with raves galore. . . . Frank Denke, piano stylist in the St. Francis Terrace Room, is pleasing after-theatre crowds with his musical renditions which range from pop tunes to the classics. . . . Finocchio's new Winter Show is called "Funtime Circus," with all the acts taking part as circus performers in the big show.

This spic and span Third Avenue Pizzeria and Pub serves 15 varieties of pizza, salads, sandwiches and Bavarian-style Black Beer on tap (by the pitcher or mug). Food is also prepared to go. Just phone in your order and by the time you arrive it's ready.

Phil Lehr is still taking bows for the elegant decor in the new Wellington Room at his Steakery. Catching a lot of eyes are the unique lamps, which were designed and made especially for Lehr by McClory Creations of San Francisco.

Ambrosio's Mexican Food Specialties

Pancho's award-winning restaurant, Ambrosio, has come up with a couple of Lenten specials that are proving a delicious hit — Albondigas de Camaron and Nopalitos Con Huevo (the latter is a combination of diced cactus sprouts, eggs and Cilantro, a special herb found only in Mexico). Both are inexpensive and very tasty.

The Lenten menu at L'Auberge, near Atherton, sounds like heaven for the gourmet. Chef George Bollag offers such culinary delights as Crab Madagascari (curried seafood with Mornay sauce), Stuffed Zucchini, and Scampi Colonial (light curry sauce, rice, pineapple and peaches).

Other seafood delights include Rex Sole Meuniere, Scampi Bordelaise, Smoked Nova Scotia Salmon and Crab Legs Ambassadeur. Specially recommended: Sole Bonne Femme.

New Steak Policy For Belmont Casino

The Belmont Casino on Old County Road will be flying a new restaurant owner's banner, as of this evening. Also a new steak cooking policy.

Earl Schug, who has long been a member of the Belmont Casino personnel, will be in charge of the new operation. Here, you may prepare your own steak, barbecue it to taste preference, and prepare the salad of your choice. In fact, the customer can do almost everything, but wash the dishes.

Another first for Coby Yee's Forbidden City: San Francisco's first all-Oriental Rock 'n' Roll group, the Ming Flings, will take over the spotlight on Sunday and Monday evenings at this prominent supper club. Make up a party and enjoy the fun, as well as dinner and cocktails.
